Big store name wants town site

A MAJOR store will be coming to Haverhill if planners give the go-ahead to a new retail and business park.

Wickes, a leading supplier of home improvement products for trade and DIY, has agreed terms with HPG Developments Ltd as its first tenant for Hamlet Green in Ehringshausen Way.

Wickes, which currently has 190 stores in the UK, will take 21,500 sq ft of new space, subject to St Edmundsbury Borough Council granting planning permission for the scheme.

William Jewson, development director at Cambridge-based HPG Developments Ltd, said: "We're delighted Wickes has committed to new space at this important new development in Haverhill that, if approved, would complement, not compete with, the town centre's offer and encourage more people to shop in Haverhill. Wickes' offer is entirely consistent with the type of non-High Street retailers we are targeting and we are pleased that interest in the town is high."

"We are in detailed negotiations with a number of other well-known non-High Street brands not currently represented in Haverhill who have expressed a keen interest in having a presence at an appropriate site in the town."

New centre kicks off

YOUTH teams kicked off their first game on a brand new pitch when a football centre was officially opened on Saturday.

The £2 million New Croft stadium and pitches off Chalkstone Way, Haverhill, provide a new home for Haverhill Rovers and are named after their old ground Hamlet Croft.

However, the new centre also includes football facilities for the whole town, for youth, girls', women's and men's football.

Youth team members were joined by players from the past, as well as contractors and others who have contributed towards the scheme, for a celebration before the kick-off of the first Haverhill Rovers' league match of the season.

A Haverhill Community Sports Association has been formed to operate the centre, which was funded by £1.4 million from St Edmundsbury Borough Council and £550,000 from the Football Foundation and Football Stadia Improvement Fund.

The company recently announced that Hamlet Green would, if implemented, provide around 260 new jobs for local people at every level as well as securing further employment through the supply chain and during the construction phase.

The proposals for Hamlet Green include new warehousing and business start-up units to the rear of the site and a new builders' merchant, a family restaurant and four bulky retail warehousing units towards the front of the site.

A planning application for the scheme is due to be considered by St Edmundsbury Borough Council in the coming weeks.

Haverhill Town Council has opposed the scheme, saying it would threaten the viability of the town centre.

Action over garden homes

ENFORCEMENT action is to be taken against a couple renting out two timber buildings in their garden as homes – even though they are paying council tax on them.

Members of St Edmundsbury Borough Council's development control committee agreed to take action over the unauthorised use of two timber built bungalows at Hill View Cottage, Hanchett End, Haverhill.

A report to the committee said officers had first seen the property advertised for sale in April 2004 with the two bungalows for rent.

New owners Mr and Mrs W Janssens moved into Hill View in September 2005. In June, 2009, one of the bungalows was assessed for council tax and the second in December, when the council was informed that a tenant was moving into one of them.

A letter was sent last December about the unauthorised change of use of the ancillary buildings and after a site visit in June, officers were told a planning application would be submitted.

No such application had been received and no further response had been made.

Councillors were told the properties were in the countryside outside of any settlement boundary.

In a letter to planning enforcement officer Jane Stanley, the Janssens said they were surprised to receive a letter as they had contacted the council in 2009 with a view to letting the outbuildings, which had been inspected and banded for council tax.

They said: "On both occasions we contacted the council in good faith, as we wanted to ensure that our actions would be appropriate and to council approval.

"We sincerely apologise if we have done anything wrong and obviously we seek your advice about how we can obtain your approval.

"As far as we are aware, these buildings have been in existence since 1997 and we have decorated them to the appropriate standards.

"The countryside has not been affected in any way and no changes have been made to the timber buildings.

"It should be borne in mind that these buildings have been there for a long time and only decorative changes have been made internally.

"They are standing in a secluded area of our garden, surrounded by high trees and you would not even know that people are living there."

Pair bailed after queue incident

TWO men have been released on bail following an incident in a queue outside a nightclub.

A 27-year-old man suffered cuts and bruising to his face after being assaulted outside De Niro's in Grosvenor Yard, Newmarket.

Two men were arrested on suspicion of assault causing actual bodily harm. They were released on bail to return to Bury St Edmunds police station on September 17.

One is a 22-year-old man from the Haverhill area and the other is a 24-year-old man from Haverhill.

Police want to hear from anyone who was in the area at the time of the incident, which happened between 1.10am and 1.25am on Saturday.

Anyone with information should call Newmarket police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Judge dismisses case against boy

A JUDGE has thrown out charges against a 13-year-old boy alleging sexual activity with two girls when he was 12 and they were 11.

The defendant, who cannot be named for legal reasons, faced two charges of sexual activity with a girl aged under 13 at Haverhill, one between September 2008 and May 2009 and the second between May 2009 and September 2009. He was also charged with assault of a girl.

District Judge Phillip Browning dismissed the case against the boy, but in doing so stated that there was no bad faith on behalf of the prosecution. He made a court order preventing any further details of the case from being reported.

Chance to meet police teams

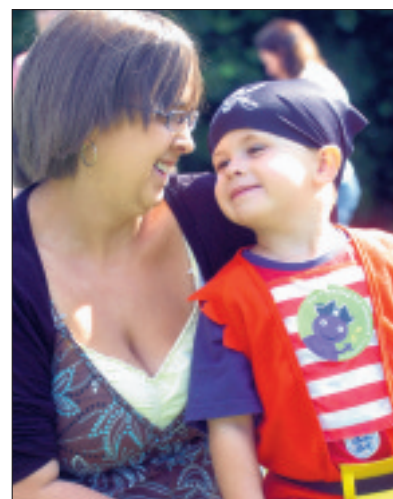

A CHANCE to meet local officers is being offered by police Safer Neighbourhood Teams.

Haverhill's team will hold police street meets on Saturday at East Town Park, Coupsals Road, from 10am-12pm, on Monday, at St Edmundsbury Borough Council offices, Lower Downs Slade from 10am-11am and on Saturday, August 21, at Sainsbury's, Haycocks Road, from 10am-11am. The Bury Rural South team will be in a mobile police station on Sunday, August 22, outside the church at Wixoe from 3-4pm.

Men run off after being disturbed

THREE men were disturbed damaging a door to empty business premises early on Sunday morning. They were seen at Withersfield Road, Haverhill, between 12.40am and 12.45am and ran off towards Eastern Avenue.

They are described as white and around 18 years old. One was wearing white clothing and another wore orange clothing. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Carl Edley at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Amy and friends join charity toddle

COMPLETING a toddle round her local park for charity was a fantastic achievement for 2-year-old Amy Cohen, who was not able to walk when her family took part in the event last year.

The Big Toddle in Haverhill's East Town Park on Sunday was organised, in association with the Weekly News, by Amy's mum Louise, who is a senior media consultant for the paper. Amy and her twin brother, Harry, were joined by around 50 under 5s in a toddle round the park to raise money for Barnardo's.

At the time of last year's event, Amy was undergoing hospital treatment and had to wear a hip spica plaster. As a result, she had to be carried or pushed in a buggy around the park.

Louise said: "We are really pleased that this year she is walking to help other unfortunate children."

Each child taking part in the toddle received a medal sticker and a certificate, as well as a goodie bag with a drink carton from Tesco, and giveaways from Fingleaves, STP Stationery and the Blood Donors Association.

Louise said a "brilliant" £913 was raised for Barnardo's and added: "Most people stayed afterwards for the yoga and the picnic. Quite a few people came dressed as pirates, which was really nice. It went very well and people really seemed to enjoy it."

Man accused of sex with girl, 14

A 19-YEAR-OLD accused of having sex with an underage girl in Haverhill has had his case sent to Ipswich Crown Court.

Liam Sheppard, 19, of Kirby, Merseyside, appeared at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court on charges of having sex with a 14-year-old girl between February 12 and 15 this year.

He was granted unconditional bail until a preliminary hearing at the Crown court, due today.

Thieves take copper in raid on school

COPPER piping and fittings were stolen from a container at a school. Thieves broke into the container by removing a padlock at Clare Primary School in Erbury Place, between 5pm on Monday and 7am the following day.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Sgt Kevin Horton at the St Edmundsbury Rural South Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100.

Double delight for opening day

TWO mayors will join forces to open a flower show next weekend.

Haverhill mayor Elaine McManus and mayor of St Edmundsbury, Cllr Ian Houlder, will open the Haverhill Flower Club's annual show at Haverhill Arts Centre on Friday, August 20.

Admission is free and the show will be open to the public from 1.30-5pm on Friday and from 10am to 5pm on Saturday.

'They are living in constant fear'

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

POLICE officers have told of residents who felt they were prisoners in their homes because of drug-dealing neighbours.

A crack house closure order was imposed on 15 Boxford Court, Haverhill, late last month but tenant Theresa Cassar contested the ruling at Sudbury Magistrates' Court on Tuesday.

Karly McGuire, for Suffolk Police, told the court that a search warrant was executed at the property on July 15 and a white powder substance was found in a cigarette packet, which tests later showed to be cocaine.

A man also arrived at the house, who was found to be in possession of wraps of cocaine. A second search found another woman with cocaine.

Pc Will Wright told magistrates a number of residents of Boxford Court and Marlborough Court had given responses to an anti-social behaviour questionnaire, but were too frightened of reprisals to give evidence in person.

They said problems started when new tenants moved into 15 Boxford

Court and spoke of constant "comings and goings day and night, noise and fighting in the street".

They also saw packages, believed to be drugs, being exchanged for money in an alleyway behind the house. Two men, believed to live at number 15, were seen only a few minutes.

One resident said: "It is not the sort of place you would walk round any more and definitely not after dark. People don't feel safe in their homes any more and they want something done about it."

Pc Wright said: "They are living with constant fear hanging over them."

"It was a hot day, but all their doors and windows were shut. They fear their homes will be broken into by people wanting money for drugs."

"They have smelt cannabis coming from the garden of the property and believe drug dealing is going on from there."

"I think it is a shame that people have to live like that. They seemed to be very afraid."

Another resident said: "We no

"Children can no longer play out, it is not safe, with blatant drug-dealing, shouting and swearing and aggressive dogs."

Ms Cassar will present her case against the closure when the hearing resumes on Thursday, August 19.

Wacky races boost charity coffers

MADCAP television take-offs such as "Slop Gear" and the Village People took to the streets last weekend for a charity race.

Residents in the village of Linton took part in the biannual Wacky Races event on Sunday to raise funds for Cancer Research UK and the Linton Pavilion Improvement Fund.

Starting out at the Crown Inn in High Street, the race involved homemade carts battling to cross the finish line first at the recreation ground.

This year, "Slop Gear", a spoof on TV show Top Gear, was first to cross the finish line.

Organiser Joel Palmer said: "We have raised about £2,000 for Cancer Research and local charities. It has been fantastic. We have had about 300 people here all having a great time."

Other events incorporated into the community fun day included the Linton Village Cricket Club (LVCC) president's cricket knockout tournament on the recreation ground, a hog roast, and stalls.

The trial scheme started in September 2008 and has now been adopted by 20 more counties, including Suffolk. More details about the scheme are available on the Suffolk police website www.suffolk.police.uk

Trio pull on PJs for hospice walkabout

STAFF at Haverhill Arts Centre will be stepping out in their pyjamas next month to raise cash for their local hospice.

Mary Argent, Louise Pall and Helen Barker will be taking part in Girls Night Out on Saturday, September 18, and hope to encourage others to join them.

Last year's inaugural event, organised by St Nicholas Hospice in Bury St Edmunds, was a huge success, with more than 300 women taking part and raising more than £60,000.

Haverhill's mayor Elaine McManus has already chosen the hospice as her charity for the year and plans to take a coach load of women from Haverhill to Bury St Edmunds to take part in the event.

Mary said the team from the arts centre decided to take part after Ian Norris, local fundraiser for the hospice, brought in some fliers about the event.

She said: "One or two of us decided we wanted to do it. It is a cause close to our hearts. Almost everyone you speak to knows someone who has been there and my mother went there."

"We knew the mayor was trying to get a coach load of ladies from Haverhill, so we thought it would be a good thing to do."

The ladies are hoping to complete the 11.2 mile walk wearing the same pyjamas.

All women aged 14 or older can join in. More information is available at the arts centre in High Street, or at the website www.stnicholas-hospice.org.uk

Watch out for exotic falcon

AN EXOTIC falcon has escaped from his new home and his owner is anxious to find him.

Chayton, an orange and black Aplomado falcon, was tethered in the back garden of owner

Claire Halls' home in Abbots Road, Haverhill, but managed to untie himself.

Claire said: "I went out to feed him last Thursday morning and saw him on the roof."

"Then he flew off over the top of the roof and I have not seen him since."

"I have kept all sorts of birds before, but these are quite exotic birds, you don't see many of them."

"I just hope if there are any sightings of him, people will let me know, so that I can go and get him."

Clare can be contacted on 07599 134655.

Kieran rides again after bike replaced

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A YOUNG boy had the smile put back on his face by kind-hearted police officers who replaced his stolen bike.

Kieran Parsons had saved up for months for a new BMX bike, only to have it stolen from his garden less than 24 hours after he brought it home.

But thanks to his local Safer Neighbourhood Team officers and Halfords store, Kiernan, 9, was presented with a new bike, the exact same one that was stolen.

Kieran's mum Debbie went along to the Halfords store in Haverhill with her son to collect it and said he was "over the moon".

Mrs Parsons, of Butley Court, Haverhill, said: "He had been saving up his pocket money for some time to get a new bike. He had also worked jobs to earn extra cash and manned a stall at the Haverhill Show to sell some of his old toys."

Back in the saddle again: PCSO Chris Strahm and Adrian Flack, manager of Halfords, present Kieran with his new bike.

Picture: Keith Jones 669736

"His birthday was July 24 and he had asked family and friends to give him money so that he would have enough."

"He went to Halfords to collect it and the next day we went out and were only gone for an hour, but when we got back all three of my sons' bikes were gone."

"The other two were older, but Kiernan had not even had his 24 hours. He burst into tears and that was the thing that broke my heart."

"He had managed to save up £80, which is a lot for a 9-year-old, only to have his bike stolen. We did get the bikes back, but they had been stripped down and re-sprayed in silver."

"He is absolutely ecstatic with his new bike and I am extremely grateful to the police and also to Halfords."

Pc Richard Baker said he had approached the Community Safety Partnership for funds to replace the bike and Halfords had helped by reducing the price.

He said: "It is a great example of partnership working by police and the local community."

"We would also remind people to keep their bikes locked up."

WI needs volunteers to kick-start new evening group

A NEW evening Women's Institute group is being formed and women who are interested are asked to help run it.

The inaugural meeting of the new group will be on Wednesday, September 15 at 7.30pm at Haverhill Leisure Centre.

Chris Thompson, secretary of Haverhill's morning WI, said there had been requests for an evening group from women who worked or had young children.

Mrs Thompson said: "We are organising the meeting, but it will be those people who come along who will run it. "If people are interested, they should go along to that first meeting to make sure it is run how they want and that they have their say."

Non-research bid disputed

Sir, Over recent weeks the Weekly News has consistently printed reports on the changes Carisbrooke Investments want to make to the current draft concept for Haverhill Research Park, but you have never canvassed the views of the residents of Hanchett End who have properties backing directly on to the proposed area.

It has been our understanding from St Edmundsbury Borough Council that the proposed research park will be a showpiece development at the gateway into Haverhill.

From your reports it is noted that Carisbrooke now suggest that a research park is no longer viable without adding higher value non-research park uses, which I and many of my neighbours dispute, and could also impose on the concept of a showpiece site.

The current Government is actively encouraging development of Britain's research industry, and with Cambridge close by, which we all know is a world class centre for the education of research scientists, it is reasonable to assume there will be no shortage of companies anxious to develop businesses at the proposed research park, a process that has already been well proven in other areas surrounding Cambridge.

Use Lego to test designs

Sir, I write regarding the scheme for replacement bus shelters for Haverhill (Weekly News, August 5).

In these days of financial crisis surely the local and county councils should think long and hard about the way public money is spent.

If councillors think 'oh that's good enough that's how we'll build it' regardless of how it turns out, instead of asking the public what they would like and using their eyes to see what the problem is, they wouldn't waste half the public money that they do.

If councillors can't do the job they are supposed to do and make a very bad mistake, they should be heavily fined and someone more capable given the job.

As far as the £60,000 that the revamp apparently will cost, it would cost no more to take down all these useless ones, and put back newer ones like we had before.

How about using Lego blocks to make a small one and then see what the public says before spending thousands.

Last week's Memories photograph was spotted by reader Christina Basham, from Shannon Close, Haverhill.

The picture, from our archives, showed some tasty treats being served up. Mrs Basham writes: "The picture was taken at Haverhill Library. The little boy with glasses holding the box on the left is Keith Jacobs who used to live in Haverhill but now lives in Brisbane, in Queensland, Australia and he is now 31 years old." The excited children were about to tuck in during a party for youngsters at the library. The picture was taken in December, 1987.

Help solve mystery of old photograph

Boy with teddy: do you know John Alderton?

CP

A POLICE clerk is trying to track down the boy in this picture and return it to him after more than 50 years.

Roz Hendriks, who works as an administration clerk at Haverhill Police Station, is trying to solve the mystery of the photograph received from a 95-year-old pensioner, which it is believed was taken to mark the boy's third birthday.

The photograph and an accompanying letter was sent simply to the Superintendent of Police, Haverhill, from Mrs Green, aged 95, of Meadow Lane, Sudbury. She asked police to locate John Alderton, who she knew as a child when she was billeted to Haverhill during the Second World War.

Mrs Green stayed with John and his mother Lena Alderton at 23 Mill Hill, Haverhill. John's father Chris Alderton, who was the local barber, was called up to fight during the war, as was Mrs Green's husband.

Roz said: "As soon as I opened the letter I was intrigued by it. It is one of the strangest requests I have received in my three years at Haverhill and would love to relocate the family to hand back the photo.

"The writing is very clear for a 95-year-old, and if I can trace John I will be writing back to tell her. She was in her 20s and so was Lena when the three of them lived in Mill Hill, until she was transferred to Lowestoft. I have the impression that she lost contact with them then.

"She believes that John had a sister, but no name is mentioned."

Anyone who can help can contact Roz at Haverhill Police Station on (01284) 774100.

Free festival for young CHILDREN are invited to their own fantastic free summer festivals this month.

Festivals are being held on Wednesday at the Recreation Ground in Haverhill, and on Tuesday in the Abbey Gardens in Bury St Edmunds, both from 10am to 4pm.

Although aimed at eight to 13 year olds, there are lots of activities for younger and older people, including parents. These include workshops for circus skills, African drumming, street dance, the fairy workshop, BMX show, a smoothie bike, lots of arts and crafts activities, Poz the magician and the usual face painting and bouncy castle – and it is all free.

Cllr Lynsey Alexander, St Edmundsbury Borough Council cabinet member for culture and sport, said: "It is a great day out with loads of new things to try out. We secured £20,000 a year for three years through Partners in Play Lottery funding to run this event, aimed at raising the profile of play and at increasing the opportunities for play in the borough. Last year proved a great success and we are looking forward to as many people as possible coming along."

The borough's leisure services section is being assisted with the event this year by Abbeycroft Leisure and the play ranger team from Forest Heath District Council.

For more information, go to <http://www.stedmundsbury.gov.uk/sebc/play/ChildrensFestival.cfm> or contact John.gibson@stedsb.gov.uk or (01284) 757088.

Children get chance to hold reptiles at play scheme

A CHANCE to meet some creepy crawlies up close and some target practice with a bow and arrow helped keep youngsters amused at a play scheme.

More than 50 children joined in the activities at the summer fun play scheme, which is in its third and final week at Castle Manor Upper School in Haverhill.

An archery session planned for Tuesday had to be cancelled because of the rain, but Lydia Wade went along on Wednesday so that youngsters would not miss out. She set up targets for them to shoot at and put up balloons so that they would see how accurate they were.

The Cambridge Reptile Experience also visited the play scheme, taking along snakes, meerkats, bearded dragons and tarantulas to meet the children.

Sam Terry, manager at the scheme, said: "Our numbers have been down this year, we think it is down to the economy. We have had about 120 children over the three weeks, when we would normally have about 200, but the children who did come have had a fantastic time.

"They all enjoyed the archery and the reptiles. You see these creatures in zoos, but you don't often get a chance to hold them and touch them. Some of the younger ones were a bit apprehensive, but most of them loved it."

Gates' brass balls stolen

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

COUNCILLORS and traders have been left fuming after brass balls were removed from a unique new set of gates only three weeks after they were installed.

Pupils from several local schools were involved in a project to create new gates for either end of Queen Street in Haverhill, to be shut when it is closed to traffic.

They designed leaf shaped metal gates, which were made by a local company and pupils screwed on the brass balls on the top to finish off the gates at the opening event on Friday, July 16.

Earlier last week one of balls was removed, but by Saturday morning only two remained.

Cllr Karen Richardson, who led the project for St Edmundsbury Borough Council to create the gates, said: "We are devastated, I cannot believe people would do this."

Cllr Anne Gower, a borough

Anger: the brass finials will now be welded on to the gates.

and county councillor, said she hoped CCTV cameras might have caught the culprits and urged anyone with information to come forward and help catch those responsible.

She said: "I cannot tell you how depressed I am about it, it absolutely shook me to the core when I saw them."

"This was a community project that involved the young people and the traders. It is art work, which is subjective, you will either like them or hate them, but they are something unique for the town. Surely that is a good thing.

"I just don't know what motivates people to do things like this, I am very cross and upset. It just lets everyone down who is working hard to make Haverhill a better place.

"What kind of message does it send out, does everything we have in this town have to be nailed down?

"I am very disappointed and unhappy about it. If the person who is responsible reads this I would like them to ring me up and just tell me why they did it."

A council spokesperson said: "All the ball finials will now be removed and permanently welded on to the gates. This is an irreversible measure and one that in construction terms we would have preferred not to take but now seems necessary. It is very disappointing that the art work developed by local young people has been treated in such a thoughtless way."

Police improve in every area

FIGURES show high levels of satisfaction with the service provided by Suffolk police, with improvements in every area.

The results are part of a continuing survey to assess 'user satisfaction' with the police.

Members of the public are asked questions in relation to the ease with which they could make contact, the police action they received, the follow-up to their initial contact, the treatment they received from police and the experience as a whole.

Suffolk police improved across all these areas, compared to the previous rolling 12-month period.

The percentage of people who were satisfied with how police had 'followed up' their concerns after the initial dealings, was up by 4.2 per cent to 76 per cent, making Suffolk joint top of the forces in their most similar group.

The force also introduced the 'incident reference card' or 'yellow card' in June, a card that is given to victims and witnesses of crime. Initial results from the yellow card were very positive, with 359 cards received, showing 88.4 per cent of responders felt they were treated with fairness, dignity and respect, 87.4 per cent felt they were provided with a satisfactory level of service and 84.2 per cent were reassured by the actions taken by the officer.

Temporary Assistant Chief Constable Stewart Gull said, "We want our communities to feel confident in their local police force, and we can achieve this by ensuring that fair, respectful and efficient treatment is at the core of our service."

"Good customer service is essential in providing policing that our communities trust in and respect, and we are introducing a new training package this year to help reinforce the importance of this to all frontline staff."

A NEWLY-qualified Royal Air Force officer is flying high after recently graduating from a prestigious military college.

Christopher Freeman, 34, graduated as a Flying Officer from No 19 Initial Officer Training (IOT) Course at the Officer and Aircrew Cadet Training Unit at RAF Cranwell, in Lincolnshire.

Christopher, from Haverhill, joined 90 other cadets outside the historic College Hall to parade before Air Chief Marshal Simon Bryant, Commander-in-Chief Air Command.

Christopher, whose parents Anthony and Diane live at Haverhill, attended Castle Manor Upper School and Hills Road Sixth Form College, Cambridge, before graduating from Southampton University with a BSc in oceanography with geography.

He joined the RAF in November last year and will soon begin his professional training at RAF Boulmer, Northumberland, as an aerospace battle manager.

On parade: Christopher Freeman, from Haverhill, who has passed out as an officer at RAF Cranwell. CP

Animal day for tots

A CHANCE for youngsters to meet some animals is being offered by a pre-school group which is hoping to boost its funds. Busy Bees pre-school, which meets at Castle Playing Fields in Haverhill, will hold its animal day on Saturday, from noon to 3pm. Pigs, chickens, ducks, rabbits and snakes have already been lined up and the group would like to hear from anyone who has a donkey or pony they could take. There will also be a tombola, cakes on sale, refreshments and balloons, as well as a chance to see how the group operates, inside its newly painted premises. Admission will be 50p to see the animals and application forms will be available to join the group, which currently has 50 members, in September. For more information, call (01440) 705800.

Violent attack father and son got wrong man

A FATHER and son who launched a violent attack against a man in his own home had attacked the wrong person.

David Smith, 43, and his son Steven Smith, 21, admitted charges of affray in relation to the incident in June, which was described as a case of mistaken identity.

Victim Daniel Wilson was sitting in his lounge watching England play Germany in the World Cup, when the pair burst into his home at Bishops Court, Haverhill.

David Smith punched him 15 to 20 times to the head

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

and Steven Smith pinned the victim's friend down with a two metre long wooden pole.

When they left the house the police were called and they were arrested at a nearby pub, where David Smith continued to be abusive towards police officers.

The court heard that the two had mistakenly believed Daniel Wilson was a man called Jordan Robinson, a former partner of David Smith's daughter Leanne, who he thought was mistreating her.

In fact the step-brother of Jordan Robinson had lived at the house, but had no involvement with the two men.

Daniel Wilson was a complete stranger to them.

Appearing before Bury St Edmunds magistrates, the pair were told they were lucky to escape an immediate custodial sentence, with David Smith ordered to pay their victim £300 compensation and Steven Smith £100.

David Smith was given a 12-week prison sentence, suspended for two years and 12 months supervision.

Steven Smith was made the subject of a community order for one year and ordered to do 160 hours of unpaid work.

A restraining order was made on both men, that they should not contact Danny Wilson, Jordan Robinson or Wayne Robinson.

Alan Humphreys, chairman of the bench, said: "This was an appalling matter which we take very seriously."

Your attack was very violent, unprovoked and over a sustained period on an entirely innocent victim.

"We consider these offences to be so serious that our only option is to sentence you to custody, but we are prepared to suspend that sentence."

"We don't want to see either of you here ever again."

Bygone days draw crowds to show

CROWDS flocked to a racecourse to see some giant steam engines and demonstrations of bygone crafts.

The 31st Thurlow Steam and Country Show took place at Horseheath Racecourse, on Saturday and Sunday.

It was once again run with the support of the East Anglian Traction Engine Society.

Over the years the event has raised a large sum of money for local charities.

Among the attractions were steam engines of all types, as well as miniature steam, bygoners, a wide range of vintage tractors, vehicles and stationary engines, and fairground organs providing old time musical entertainment.

All aboard: Amy Dyson with Jack, 6, and Bethany, 8, on a 1918 Garrett 4CD steam motor tractor. Left, fun at the fairground.

A girl's best friend helped inspire a fresh start in life

Emma Robinson's dog Wilson was an incredible source of comfort after she lost her husband Paul to cancer. Interview by ALICE RYAN LYING flat on his back, all four golden paws in the air, Wilson the cocker spaniel is a picture of contentment.

Looking down at her adored dog, owner Emma Robinson can't help smiling.

"He's part cocker spaniel, part human that one," she says. "He's such a character. And I can't tell you how brilliant he's been."

The last few years have been tough for Emma. First she lost her mum to cancer and then, just three weeks before they were due to marry, her fiancé Paul was diagnosed with cancer too: told it was terminal, he was given a year to live.

Tragically, Paul lost his battle with the disease in the autumn of 2008; the couple had been married just nine months.

"It took me about six years to persuade Paul to get a dog. I've always loved dogs and he was convinced a puppy would get more attention than him," laughs Emma, 31.

"In the end I just phoned a breeder. But, from the moment he arrived, Paul loved Wilson. And Wilson was amazing when he was ill: he never once jumped on him; he was really gentle."

Emma, who lives in Ely, says losing Paul really changed her perspective on life. Before he fell ill, she worked in sales. "It was a very target-driven job, it was all about sales figures and reports," she explains. "When he died I realised that's not what I wanted any more, that other things were more important – like doing a job which makes me happy."

As a cocker spaniel, with lovely curly gold locks, Wilson needs regular haircuts. "I took him to various places, but I could never get it done quite the way I like it," explains Emma, who prefers, for example, to leave Wilson's whimsical long eyebrows untrimmed; they are, she says, part of his character.

"I'd always wanted to work with dogs – I've always adored them – so training as a groomer seemed a good idea," says Emma. "As soon as I started the course, I knew it was the right job for me."

"Dogs give humans so much love, unconditional love; it's really nice to be able to give some of that love back. Some dogs, especially the ones with long coats, come in with dirty, matted fur – but they leave looking and feeling like puppies again."

Training at the College of West Anglia in Milton, Emma completed her first NVQ course – which normally takes a year – in just six months; going on to do a higher qualification straight away, she was crowned Student of the Year by her tutors.

She launched her own business, kitting out a special dog grooming salon at her Ely home, this summer. Called Handsome Hounds, it offers everything from scissoring and hand-stripping to nail clipping. "I was brought up with dogs," Emma continues. "The first one I remember was a Springer called Tina; then we had a Labrador – he was my best friend in the whole world."

Memories: Emma and Paul in 2008, the year that he lost his life.

Climbing up onto his mum's lap, Wilson settles down for a snooze; laughing again, Emma admits he has 'a really hard life'.

"When Paul was in hospital, and then after he died, it would have been awful to come home to an empty house," she adds. "But I knew Wilson was waiting here – and would be really pleased to see me."

In the summer of 2007, after suffering from bouts of excruciating heartburn and stomach ache, Paul was found to have a secondary growth in his liver. Tests showed it was the result of a rare and fast-moving carcinoma; the primary cancer was never found.

"I can remember seeing other young couples in the street and feeling so angry," says Emma. "To me, it always seemed they were planning their future: I thought 'How can they plan forever, when Paul and I can't even plan tomorrow?'..."

Undergoing aggressive chemo, Paul seemed to rally. But then doctors said the medication had ceased to work.

Opting to end treatment, Paul died within a matter of weeks. "He was amazing. I know he hid a lot from me to protect me, but I think I was the one who couldn't accept it," admits Emma. "On the Sunday he sat with all the family and had a roast dinner; it was almost like normal. He died on the Tuesday."

Paul had planned his Humanist funeral: the soundtrack included 'lots of Bob Marley, including Don't Worry, Be Happy'. It was after that, remembers Emma, that reality bit.

"I'd left my job to look after Paul; I just wanted to be with him," she says. "Caring for him had been my whole purpose in life..."

Thanks to her new career and, says Emma, meeting a 'really lovely' new partner, she is now able to look to the future. "When Paul was ill I remember my dad saying 'Something good always comes out of a bad situation'," she continues.

"At the time I didn't want to hear it: I didn't want to be in the bad situation in the first place. But going through all that really has pushed me to live my life to the full, do all the things I want to do."

"I want to do lots of travelling: I want to do it for Paul, for my mum, for me and for my new partner. I want to carry on working with dogs. And, more than anything, I want to be happy..."

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- ☐ Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- ☐ Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- ☐ Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Send off change of address cards.
- ☐ Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- ☐ Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- ☐ Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- ☐ Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- ☐ Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- ☐ Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- ☐ Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

2 ON MOVING DAY:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- ☐ Take down curtains.
- ☐ Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- ☐ Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler/central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Leave key as arranged with new owners.
- ☐ On arrival at your new home, unpack slowly and methodically so that you can check for loss or damage.

3 EXTRA HINTS FOR A SMOOTH MOVE...

Guessing game for mums

A GROUP of mums breast-fed their babies for a total of 195 months between them – and that magic figure saw other mums who guessed it win prizes.

Members of the Haverhill Breastfeeding group ran a baby tent at the recent Big Day Out in Haverhill, providing a place where babies could play safely, as well as being changed and fed.

They organised a competition at the event to guess the total number of breast-feeding hours put in by nine helpers at the group.

The winning guess was 16 years three months by Corral Keating, who won the first prize of a massage at ARevolution.

Second prize of a voucher at Bottom Drawer went to Jo Cooper, who guessed 192 hours.

Sylvie McKewens won a bottle of champagne for her guess of 202 hours.

A total of 79 people entered the competition and guesses ranged from nine weeks to 700 months – equivalent to 58 years.

The group meets every Monday, except Bank Holidays, at the Cartwheels Children's Centre in Greenfields Way from 10.30am-noon, and at the Friday weigh-in sessions at Haverhill Health Centre from 9.30am to noon.

They offer help and support on breast-feeding and there is also a national support line number on 0300 100 0210.

Homes plan in grounds

PLANS to build six houses on land in the grounds of a private school after demolishing outbuildings have been submitted.

The Stoke College Educational Trust has made an application to St Edmundsbury Borough Council for land at Stoke College, Stoke by Clare. A listed building application to make alterations to the boundary wall to allow the Ashen Lane access to be widened is also made.

Advice day at college

AN advice day will be held at West Suffolk College, Bury St Edmunds on Tuesday, August 31, between 10am and 7pm. Potential students will be able to call in to discuss their options in the light of their exam results.

The autumn term prospectus for adult education leisure and learning courses at West Suffolk College is now available.

Drunk sexually assaulted medic

A POLISH man who sexually assaulted a female paramedic who had been sent in an ambulance to help him has been ordered to pay her £600 in compensation.

Bartlomiej Dziuba, 22, appeared at Bury St Edmunds magistrates court for sentencing, having admitted the offence at an earlier hearing.

The woman, who the court ordered should not be identified, made a victim impact statement in which she said she had suffered psychological trauma since the incident.

Wayne Ablett, prosecuting, said an ambulance was called to Pentlow Hawk Close in Haverhill, in May, to a report that a man had collapsed.

They found the defendant, who appeared to be highly under the influence of alcohol.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

They tried to get him into the ambulance to carry out checks, but when he got within an arms length of the woman, he touched her twice in her groin area, over her clothes. She told him to stop, or she would call the police.

They continued checks inside the ambulance, but Dziuba became aggressive after they refused to give him a lift home.

He swore at police and went round to the side of the ambulance where the woman was sitting inside, making sexual gestures and licking the window. After a scuffle he ran away, but was arrested later.

Magistrates made him the subject of a community order, including supervision and a six-month alcohol treatment order.

Chairman Alan Humphreys said: "This is a most serious matter and one that could rightly have led you to a sentence of custody.

"However, we feel this was not a characteristic action, and while it is no excuse, you were drunk at the time. We have also taken into account your youth and immaturity."

Mark Thompson, for Dziuba, who was also ordered to sign the sex offenders' register, said it was clearly a very unsavoury incident and his client knew what could happen to him.

He had been very drunk and had no recollection of the incident. He was very embarrassed and contrite about the offence and realised he was drinking too much.

He hoped to return to Poland, where his family were particularly unhappy with him because of the incident.

Man gave himself up after kicking door

A MAN gave himself up to the police after kicking in the door at his girlfriend's home.

Paul Walsh, 22, walked to Haverhill police station after the incident at Wellum Close, a court heard.

Walsh, of Chantry Road, Haverhill, admitted using violence to enter premises and was given a conditional discharge for 12 months by magistrates at Bury St Edmunds.

He was also ordered to pay £50 compensation for the damage to the door of the rented house and £85 prosecution costs.

Nikki Miller, prosecuting, said Walsh had walked out of the house "on bad terms" on July 30 after an argument in which his girlfriend complained that he was not at work.

At around 6.30pm he let himself into the house and had a bath. She left the house with their 20-month-old son.

But she returned later when he had left and double locked the front door leaving the key in it on the inside so that he could not get in again.

Walsh returned about 12.20am on July 31 and phoned her when he found he could not get in. She refused to unlock the door and he kicked it open.

He verbally abused her and she called the police. He then walked off and waited for police to arrest him at the police station.

Claire Lockwood, mitigating, said Walsh had shown remorse for the incident by immediately giving himself up to the police.

She said Walsh, who had now moved back to his mother's home, had also offered to pay for the damage to the door.

News helps sort overgrown garden

A COUPLE concerned about an overgrown garden next door to their home say work had been done since their story was featured in the Weekly News.

Hamish and Emma Haughley even made a YouTube video as part of their campaign to get something done about the house, which had been empty for at least five years, and its overgrown garden damaging their property.

The couple, who have lived in their house in Withersfield Road, Haverhill, for four and a half years, had never seen anyone go in or out of the house.

They had spent a weekend each year cutting back brambles and bushes growing over into their garden and feared the chimney stack could be unstable.

Their attempts to trace the owner had been unsuccessful, and their plight was revealed in the Weekly News on July 8.

Hamish said: "After you printed the story, and linked to the Youtube video, things really started to happen. The Youtube video received over 300 views and shortly afterwards, we heard from the son of the owner of the property saying that he would take care of the situation.

Overgrown: Hamish and Emma Haughley pictured in July with shrubs and trees growing over from their neighbour's garden. 661420

"Also, Anne Gower of St Edmundsbury Borough Council got involved and has been incredibly helpful and proactive in pushing things forward.

"The various departments at St Edmundsbury Borough Council certainly seemed to want it made clear that this kind of neglect isn't taken lightly.

"As a result, the garden has now been completely cut back and the property put on the market.

"There is now a 'sold' sign outside, and we believe a local builder is buying the property with a view to a very quick turnaround on refurbishment and then selling or renting.

"We can't begin to tell you how great this news is, and would like to thank you for drawing attention to our problem."

Village says cheers to vicar sponsoring barrel

A VICAR is the toast of the village pub – after sponsoring a barrel of beer at its forthcoming beer festival.

The fourth annual Beer and Music festival will take place at the Half Moon Pub at Belchamp St Paul, near Clare, on August Bank Holiday Weekend, starting at 5pm on Friday, August 27 and finishing late on Monday.

More than 30 real ales, perrys and ciders are on offer this year and Father Eoin Buchanan, team rector for the North Hinckford team of churches, decided to sponsor a barrel to support the event.

He said: "As team rector of this large team of 15 rural churches I am delighted to have the opportunity to personally 'sponsor a barrel' of ale and in the doing so I raise a glass to my colleagues both lay and ordained who keep the line of prayer for our communities alive every hour of the day. The North Hinckford Team is proud to sponsor a barrel and raise a yard-of-ale to all those unsung heroes who work tirelessly to keep our church buildings open, in good repair and available as places of worship and havens of peace."

Musicians such as Robbie Gladwell, Steve Linton, Judith Chalmers, and Story will be playing at what is turning into a very large event for the village, with a few thousand people expected to visit.

Three charities which will benefit from the event are: To Write Love On Her Arms, which helps people cope with depression, addiction, self-injury and suicide, the St Helena Hospice, and the Brooke animal charity.

For further details about the event, call Angela or Paul on (01787) 277402.

Health chief steps down

A HEATH boss is stepping down after 14 years in the job.

Carole Taylor-Brown, chief executive of NHS Suffolk, is leaving her post next month to begin a new career.

Mrs Taylor-Brown, 53, who conquered breast cancer in 2008, suffered a serious spinal infection which has left her in persistent pain and doctors have advised her to reduce her working commitments.

She said: "People in Suffolk deserve the very best care and getting the best for people in Suffolk has always been my passion. Staff and health professionals across the NHS in Suffolk are among the most professional and hard-working that I have come across.

"I have great confidence in them to continue their work to do the very best in these financially challenging times."

'Life-saver' nominated

NICK Bennett – left to live his life in a wheelchair after a crash as a boy racer – is one of the first to be nominated in this year's Cambridge News Community Awards.

Nick was 17 when he was involved in a collision in 2002. He had just passed his driving test when he tried to overtake two vehicles – and hit a lorry head-on.

His life was saved by emergency medical charity Magpas, but his brain stem was seriously damaged.

Nick, now 25, lives independently in a specially-adapted home in Papworth Everard.

In the years since the collision he has repaid Magpas by raising more than £10,000 through a series of challenges – including a sponsored skydive which raised more than £7,000.

He has also raised thousands of pounds for Headway

Cambridgeshire, the head injuries charity. On top of that, he gives lectures, organised by the emergency services and road safety charities, to warn young people coming up to driving age about the repercussions of reckless driving – which is where his nomination in the Community Awards comes in.

Lola Craft, chairman of the Cambridge Association of Approved Driving Instructors, nominated him.

Our sister paper's community awards aim to recognise inspiring individuals and groups who do sterling work for the community, often in difficult circumstances, and readers are invited to nominate their worst winners.

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

- Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy - don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.
- Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you - a second opinion is always useful.
- Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so - employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.
- Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long - employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.
- Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job - they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Keep it simple

Personal details

Start off with your full name, address, date of birth, home and mobile phone numbers, email address and nationality. If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

Summary/professional profile

This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

Education and qualifications

List your qualifications and education history, with the most recent first. You don't need to list the grades for each exam you have passed unless they were exceptional results - simply listing the number and type of exams you've passed is fine. Also, list any relevant professional organisations you belong to and training courses you have been on.

Work experience

Start with your most recent position and work backwards, giving addresses along with start and finish dates. Set out your main responsibilities, duties and most importantly achievements, along with any skills you picked up or improvements you made while you were there. This is a really important section in your CV so make it count - but don't waffle.

If you have not had a full-time job before, detail any part-time jobs you may have held or any placement you have been on.

Other skills

Set out any computer skills you may have and the software you are most familiar with. Can you type, do shorthand or speak a foreign language fluently? If you have a driving licence, let the employer know. If it's clean, tell them.

Interests & hobbies

Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References

Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be.

If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

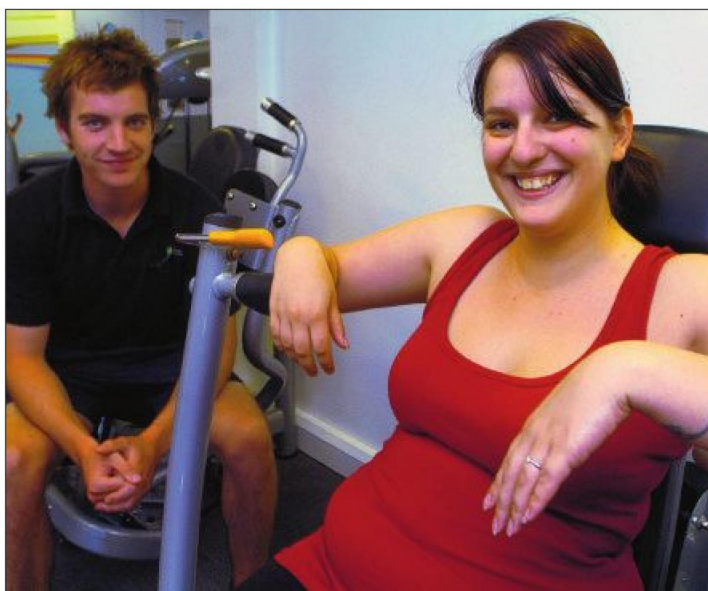

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it.

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

- Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point - no more than six paragraphs.
- Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.
- Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV - if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.
- Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

Fighting fit: Hannah McKay prepares for her Nepalese adventure with personal trainer Liam Britton.

Gym win a help for honeymoon

WHILE most brides-to-be dream of lazing on a sun-kissed beach after the big day, Hannah McKay has different plans – she'll be pulling on her walking boots and trekking thousands of miles.

And Hannah now has the chance to shape up for her unusual honeymoon in the Himalayas after winning a year's free membership at her local gym.

Hannah, 24, will marry Graham Warren at Chilford Hall in Linton on September 18. But she won't be packing the usual sundress, sandals and suntan lotion for the honeymoon.

Instead, she'll be travelling with sodium tablets, sleeping bags, mosquito nets and walking boots as she and her new husband embark on a three-week trek in Nepal.

So when Hannah, of Gannet Close, Haverhill, saw a competition run by Abbeycroft Leisure, which is celebrating its fifth birthday, to win a free year's membership to Haverhill Leisure Centre she signed up. And then won!

Hannah and Graham will walk thousands of miles on the trek and are hoping to spot the very rare one-horned rhino on their trip. The couple, who have a son Ben, 4, also plan to go white-water rafting and go on safari.

Hannah said: "We didn't want a normal holiday for our honeymoon and when Graham suggested we went on an adventure holiday I was very worried because he is much fitter than I am and I don't want to be the one at the back lagging behind.

"But now with the help of the free gym membership I will be able to get in shape for my wedding and my honeymoon.

"I've never done anything like this and certainly never walked this far but I'm very excited about the trip."

As well as the free membership, which will entitle Hannah to use the gym, pool and fitness classes, she will also receive 12 free sessions with a personal trainer to ensure she gets the best possible start to her new fitness regime.

Alison Bowyer, Abbeycroft Leisure's development manager, said: "Hannah's entry stood out because there were two reasons why she wanted to get fit.

"Firstly, she wanted to lose weight for her wedding day and secondly to make the most of her honeymoon trek in Nepal.

"Not only will the gym help her get in shape for the wedding and honeymoon but she will also be in the best shape of her life for the start of her new life with husband Graham."

Talk takes off with plane speaker

A MAN with a passion for the Shuttleworth historic aircraft collection was the speaker at the Haverhill U3A group meeting.

Alan Reed began his talk, Time Flies at Old Walden, with the sound of a Second World War Spitfire filling the hall at Haverhill Arts Centre during an introduction video to a set of still and moving pictures of aircraft permanently on display at Old Walden, dating back to 1909.

The collection has one and two-seater original and replica flying machines, many of which have appeared in films, and in air displays.

Speed in the air and on the race track was the passion of Richard Ormonde Shuttleworth, born in 1909 to a military family. He inherited the 4,500-acre estate of Old Walden Hall when he was 23 and set about restoring old cars and aircraft.

The family had become increasingly wealthy with steam engines manufactured in the Midlands and built the hall as a replica of Gawthorpe Hall near Burnley, a mansion dating back to 1329.

Mr Reed is an active volunteer at the Shuttleworth Collection, a charitable trust, and was keen to show how the wooden and linen components were hand-crafted into many of the flimsy flying machines on display, powered with a mixture of petrol and castor oil.

His talk was a pleasant taster for a possible future visit by U3A to Old Walden.

Objection to open hours

A TAKEAWAY food outlet's application to extend its opening hours to 3am on Thursday, Friday and Saturday has prompted objections from town councillors.

The plan, received by St Edmundsbury Borough Council, was submitted by Mazium Aslan for 15 Queen Street, Haverhill.

Haverhill Town Council objected to the plan saying Queen Street has a large number of residential properties in and around it, particularly on the south side.

The council said: "Whilst there is existing early morning noise and nuisance from other premises in the road, these all cease trading at 2am and it is felt appropriate in order to protect the amenity of those neighbours by restricting these premises similarly to 2am closure."

Quick thief steals bike

A MOTORBIKE was stolen from a car park where it was parked for just 25 minutes.

The black Kawasaki motorbike, registration A051MLF, was stolen from the site in Clements Drive, Haverhill between 7.10pm and 7.35pm on Sunday.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to the Crime Investigation Bureau on (01473) 613500.

Damage to straw bales

STRAW bales in a field were damaged when their baling string was cut.

The damage happened at Stoke Road, Clare, between 5pm on Tuesday, August 3, and 9am the following day.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Sgt Kevin Horton at the St Edmundsbury Rural South Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100.

Window hit by vandals

A WINDOW was smashed at a house in Haverhill.

The damage was caused overnight in White Caville between 11pm last Thursday and 9.30am the following day.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Liz Goymour-Milne at Bury St Edmunds Police on (01284) 774100.

Double helping of open-air opera with hall as backdrop

MADINGLEY HALL, on the outskirts of Cambridge, provides the magnificent backdrop for a double bill of outstanding open-air opera this weekend.

Opera fans and newcomers to the music are in for a real treat as the UK's leading touring company Opera Brava stage two of Mozart's most popular and powerful operas.

The Marriage of Figaro will be performed tomorrow and The Magic Flute on Saturday. Both performances start at 7.30pm.

With an impressive cast of top national and international singers, each evening promises to be of exceptional quality providing many cherished memories.

The Marriage of Figaro has all the ingredients of a classic piece of 18th century literature — passion, lust, betrayal, deception and ultimate forgiveness. Yet the action takes place in just 24 hours and is liberally sprinkled with sparkling, farcical humour.

International baritone Andrew Mayor plays Count

Almaviva, the over amorous villain of the piece who's determined to upset the marriage plans of his two servants Figaro and Susanna (soprano Catrine Kirkman) with his "droit de seigneur" designs on the young girl.

For his part Figaro (Edwin Hawkes) is desired by Marcellina (played by mezzo soprano Iwona Januszajtis), to whom he owes a substantial debt.

Marcellina plots to force Figaro to marry her as a forfeit for non-payment. Her plan looks as if it will succeed until it is revealed, incredibly, that Figaro is in fact Marcellina's long-lost son!

Many more twists and turns follow, with some outstanding performances by soprano Amanda Buckland as the count's wife, Niamh Kelly as the amorous page boy Cherubino, tenor Daniel Meades as Basilio and Curzio and bass Mark Beesley as Bartolo and Antonio.

Originally commissioned by the Viennese music-hall impresario Emanuel Schikaneder, The Magic Flute has triumphed over these humble beginnings to become one of the most widely performed and best-loved operas in the international repertory.

This sparkling new production by Opera Brava with an international cast will take you on a perilous journey in pursuit of love, light and peace as the prince Tamino, played by tenor Ted Schmitz, is sent by the Queen of the Night (soprano Amanda Buckland) to rescue the Queen's daughter Pamina (soprano Amanda Forbes) from an Egyptian priest, Sarastro (bass Geoffrey Moses).

Tamino is joined on his quest by a merry bird-catcher, Papageno, and given a magic golden flute to ward off danger.

The Magic Flute is Mozart's masterpiece, as he links both tragedy and comedy together through two young lovers' journey in search of truth.

Tickets for each night are £25 for adults, £10 for children. For the box office, call 01444 443000 or book online at www.operabrava.co.uk

College gardens play host to Shakespeare

Tale of summer romance: Shakespeare's Love's Labour's Lost.

BLACK Ram Theatre has started its latest tour of a new musical version of Shakespeare's Love's Labour's Lost, combining the traditional script with popular music to create an unforgettable family show.

Love's Labour's Lost is the most beautiful of Shakespeare's comedies.

The King of Navarre has had it with modern life. Swearing to forego the vices of sleep, food, and women – he and his three friends embark on three years of monastic scholarly life.

Cue the arrival of the implausibly vivacious Princess of France and her conveniently numbered trio of female entourage to scupper the king's lofty plans and you have a recipe for fun and frolics, as Cupid is soon firing his bow of love at all and sundry.

The tale of poetry and summer romance for the whole family, brought to life with live music, verse and spectacle, will unfurl in the Cambridge Fellows' Garden, Christ's College, on August 23 and 24 at 7.30pm.

Audiences are invited to take picnic hampers and rugs.

Tickets are adults £12, concessions £10 and family tickets, two adults and two children, £35.

Call (01366) 727223.

■ Three other Shakespeare plays bringing more drama and laughs to the Cambridge University college gardens run until August 21.

At Trinity College Gardens, follow the love story of Rosalind and Orlando in As You Like It. King's College Gardens is the setting for the historical drama Henry V, which promises fast-paced action and adventure as the new king faces civil unrest throughout the land and prepares to take on the mighty French army.

A tale of love, anguish and mistaken identity, Twelfth Night is one of Shakespeare's most widely-loved masterpieces. Catch it in Robinson College Gardens.

For tickets and more information, contact (01223) 357851 / www.cambridgeshakespeare.com

■ And the world-renowned Globe Theatre is presenting A Midsummer Night's Dream in The Master's Garden at Emmanuel College until Sunday at 7.30pm.

Fast, furious and funny, and performed on an Elizabethan-inspired stage, this delightfully anarchic play has new life breathed into it by the small troupe of travelling players.

Join Gil for a day of guitar strumming

GUITAR players can join Gil Matthews, from And Then Strum ... who is running two all-day sessions for all ages and abilities at Haverhill Arts Centre.

The sessions run today and next Thursday from 10am to 4pm. Tickets £30. Call 07984 794143 or email gmat796@aol.com

■ A show for people aged 3 to 8 with learning disabilities, sensory and physical impairments, Around And Around, is 50 minutes of songs, music and interactive sensory activities. It's on tomorrow at 10am, 11.45am and 1.30pm. Tickets, £3, are limited.

■ The Haverhill and District Flower Club will stage its annual flower show on Friday, August 20 from 1.30-5pm, and Saturday, August 21, 10am-5pm. Admission is free.

■ From The People's Theatre Company, and suitable for ages 4 and up, How The Koala Bear Learnt To Hug and other stories is a new musical with the chance to sing along, on Wednesday, August 18 at 2pm. Tickets £4.50, family ticket £16.

■ Cinema this week kicks off with Italian Reel Culture film I Am Love (15), a saga about the secrets of the aristocratic Recchis family. With English subtitles, showing on Monday, August 16, at 7.45pm. Tickets £3.50, £4 and £5.

KNIGHT AND DAY (12A, 109 mins)

Action/Comedy/Romance. Tom Cruise, Cameron Diaz, Peter Sarsgaard, Jordi Molla, Paul Dano, Maggie Grace, Marc Blucas. Director: James Mangold.

TOM Cruise and Cameron Diaz have starred in some of the most financially successful and critically acclaimed films of the past 25 years, collecting numerous awards for their efforts.

Yet put these two Hollywood superstars in the same camera shot and the results are lacklustre to say the least. Their first collaboration, Vanilla Sky; an English language remake of the clever Spanish thriller Abre Los Ojos (Open Your Eyes), was confusing, illogical and uninvolved, and lacked the style and intelligence of Alejandro Amenabar's original film.

Now these two talented actors reunite for James Mangold's fast-paced action comedy that has lots of crash, bang but almost no emotional wallop.

There is a seed of a good idea in Patrick O'Neill's screenplay, but the actor turned writer doesn't yet have the experience to knit together the comedy and action elements into a fluid and coherent narrative.

Screen chemistry between the leads never catches fire, even when entire buildings are exploding around them. June Havens (Diaz) is an unassuming Midwestern gal, who is in the wrong place at the wrong time.

Boarding a flight bound for Boston, June is unexpectedly caught in the crossfire of a mid-air shoot out between paranoid government agent Roy Miller (Cruise) and gun-toting assassins.

"I shot the first pilot, he shot the second... it's just one of those things," smirks Roy nervously. June wakes the next morning, in her bed, believing that her high altitude adventure was nothing more than a bad dream, only for Miller to abduct her from a diner in front of would-be suitor, Rodney (Blucas).

The young woman is now marked for death and must quickly learn the tricks of the spy trade to stay alive and avoid an early grave at the hands of Antonio (Molla) and his henchmen.

Meanwhile, CIA director Isabel George (Davis) and Agent Fitzgerald (Sarsgaard) try to persuade June that Roy is a rogue spy who must be stopped before he hands a newly discovered perpetual energy source to US enemies. Knight And Day gallops across the globe from Boston to Salzburg and finally to Seville for a spectacular finale during a bull run.

Cruise limbers up for the physical demands of Mission: Impossible IV, scheduled for release next summer, with a series of bruising stunt sequences and Diaz gets battered too behind the wheel of a car in the centrepiece chase. However, it's hard to muster concern about Roy and June when the screenplay pays such scant attention to character development.

Myriad villains are cardboard cut-outs. The twist is heavily signposted and the lead stars seem to be bulletproof when lesser mortals would be riddled with bullets and bound for the mortuary slab.

Stunning gardens in austere times

As hard times continue, with more cutbacks and job losses on the cards, many people are still tightening their belts – but there are easy ways to save money on gardening.

So says celebrity gardener Chris Beardshaw, who insists you don't have to buy loads of new plants, liquid fertilisers and bug killers to enjoy a rich and bountiful garden.

At the recent Tatton Park Show in Cheshire, many gardens demonstrated more austerity measures and still looked stunning, says Chris, a regular on BBC Gardeners' World. "A lot of the processes are so simple.

"To save money, sow your own seed from hardy annuals in autumn to cover areas of bare or cultivated ground. If you go to nurseries or garden centres in autumn they are selling off some of the seed stock cheaper which was designed for spring.

by Hannah Stephenson

"It still has huge viability, so you are going to get good germination rates at a fraction of the price. By spring the plants are starting to flower.

"Nigellas and calendulas and digitalis create a wonderful floral tapestry. You can get several square metres covered for just a few pounds." He says communities of gardeners should get together to swap plants, seeds and tips.

"Herbaceous perennials revel in the opportunity to be lifted and divided. It reinvigorates them. Most of us have geriatric herbaceous perennials that would welcome being divided up and passed on to other gardeners and suddenly you have plants for free.

"Wild geraniums, heucheras, alchemillas and many herbs such as mint and thyme can all be easily lifted with a garden fork, sliced through with an old bread knife and half of it plunged back in the ground where it was. The plants and the gardeners benefit."

As summer progresses, you can collect seeds from many plants. Place a brown paper bag over the heads of oriental poppies, securing it with an elastic band, and when the seeds start to rattle cut off the stem and turn it upside down, hanging it in a cool, dry place, to let the seed dry.

Soon, you'll have thousands of seeds from one poppy head. Do the same with digitalis.

If you have a wild area with such weeds as nettle and comfrey, you can also make liquid feed which will be just as effective as any chemical product you might find in a garden centre, he says.

"People spend far too much money on food for their plants," says Chris. "We reach Garden on a budget: celebrity gardener Chris Beardshaw has plenty of tips that won't cost a fortune; inset, the fiery colours of Crocosmia.

too readily for artificial fertilisers.

"If you are growing plants like comfrey or you have an area of the garden where nettles grow, you can create comfrey and nettle tea just by harvesting the plants, filling a bucket with fresh leaves, pouring over hot water and topping it with cold water and then letting it steep for about a week, straining off the sediment. The liquid can then be watered straight on to tomatoes. It's as good a tomato food as anything you're likely to buy in a shop."

BEST OF THE BUNCH - Crocosmia

Just as the spectacular blooms in the midsummer border start to fade, the fiery flowers of brilliant crocosmias appear at the end of dramatic, sword-like green leaves.

In my own garden, the spikes of C. 'Lucifer', a sizzling red variety, stand majestic next to burnt orange helenium creating a striking clash of hot colours.

Crocosmias provide the focal point and architectural interest in borders and are available in yellows, oranges and reds.

Plant corms in spring and cover with a dry mulch in winter. Other good varieties include C. x crocosmiiflora 'Emily McKenzie', with its bright orange flowers, while 'Lady Hamilton' has golden blooms.

Freelander 2 ready to roll

2011 model range on the launchpad

THE 2011 Freelander 2 model range, on sale in the UK from the end of September, benefits from a new 2.2-litre diesel engine available with either 147bhp or 186bhp outputs, a new look exterior plus interior alterations including new instrument dials and a new Premium Pack option.

Land Rover's new turbo diesel engine is available in the 4WD TD4 147bhp model featuring a manual transmission and intelligent Stop/Start technology as standard (an automatic gearbox without Stop/Start is available as a cost option), or the new SD4 model delivering 186bhp (available in automatic transmission only).

This new engine is quieter, more efficient and both derivatives have 20Nm more torque than the outgoing engine. This means the 2011 Freelander 2 offers improved engine response and more mid-range strength for towing. CO2 emissions have been significantly reduced to 165g/km and 185g/km respectively with corresponding fuel economy benefits.

However, despite reductions in consumption and emissions, there has been no compromise in performance. The flagship 186bhp Freelander SD4 accelerates from rest to 60mph in 8.7 seconds with an increased top speed of 118mph. The Freelander 147bhp TD4 manual and automatic versions match the performance of their predecessors.

As well as being upgraded from EU4 to EU5, both versions have a new variable geometry turbocharger and have been extensively recalibrated to deliver new levels of power, meet emissions regulations and reduce CO2 emissions. They are fitted with a catalysed diesel particulate filter as standard and are now compatible with 10 per cent biodiesel rather than 5 per cent.

As an addition to the Freelander 2 range, Land Rover will also offer customers a 2WD derivative, available in the UK from January 2011. This will be called the Freelander 2 eD4 and it will be the most efficient Land Rover ever produced, with fuel consumption of 47.2mpg combined, and CO2 emissions of just 158g/km.

"The new Freelander 2 eD4 moves Land Rover into the hugely popular and fiercely contested two wheel-drive SUV market," said Land Rover managing director Phil Popham. "The European market for two-wheel drive SUVs represents 23 per cent of the segment and we intend to compete strongly here."

This groundbreaking Freelander 2 eD4 is powered by the new 2.2-litre turbo diesel engine, delivering 147bhp. It is only available with a six-speed manual transmission featuring Stop/Start technology as standard.

The 4WD TD4 and SD4 models are on sale in the UK from the end of September, priced from £21,695 for the 147bhp TD4 S Manual and peaking at £35,510 for the SD4 HSE automatic 4WD.

Brian Blessed is top sat-nav voice

THE voice of Brian Blessed will soon be bellowing out of your sat-nav after a campaign on Facebook attracted more than 25,000 members.

Motorist Richard Gardner from Saddleworth, Manchester, decided he wanted his driving experience to be shoutier and more beardy. But when he discovered that the king-sized actor's booming voice was not available on his TomTom sat-nav, he decided to set the wheels in motion himself.

Richard launched a Facebook group called "Campaign to get Brian Blessed to do a voice-over for my sat-nav" in April 2008, and promptly forgot about it. In February 2010, he revisited it to find 450 members. Realising there was some demand for the voice he proceeded to spread the word and within weeks attracted several thousand members.

As the petition gathered momentum, Richard contacted TomTom who said they would open negotiations with Brian Blessed if the group attracted 25,000 supporters. Richard then approached the big Yorkshireman himself, who agreed to film a campaign video and lend his voice if the target was reached.

The group now has 25,772 members and Brian Blessed is "thrilled to bits". As you can see for yourself at www.youtube.com/watch?v=BOicbYFq4C0.

SAT-NAV STAR: Brian Blessed is in demand.

Ford celebrates half-year sales

FORD'S UK vehicle market dominance was confirmed in July as its new pricing strategy came into effect across its passenger car range.

According to official figures released today by the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders, Ford was the overall car sales leader in July, with 18,442 registrations, and for the year to date (176,792). Ford also boosted its lead in retail car sales in July with a share of 12.1 per cent, up 1.0 percentage point compared with July 2009.

As well as being the favourite of retail customers, the Ford Fiesta was again the overall UK best seller in July, and for the year to date. The Ford Focus maintained its second place in the sales chart for registrations to the end of July.

Ford's latest pricing strategy for passenger cars is set to strengthen the brand's appeal for retail customers. Ford has reduced official recommended list prices on its medium and small cars from August, following similar action on Ford's large cars in April. Ahead of these price changes, dealers have been offering special promotions which mirror these lower prices.

Nigel Sharp, managing director Ford of Britain, said: "Ford's clearer pricing policy, started early in 2010, becomes permanent this month.

"This will confirm to our customers that Ford provides the best value, that they will get high-quality and technically advanced features as well as a competitive price."

There were significant advances in Ford commercial vehicle (CV) sales in July. Total Ford CV sales in July were up 1,461 to 5,242 compared with July 2009. Ford CV share was up by 3.3 percentage points to 25.6 per cent compared with July 2009.

Ford medium CV share in July was up 3.6 percentage points to 28.1 per cent compared with the same period last year.

Ford medium commercial vehicle sales in July were up 1,501 to 4,324 compared with July 2009.

The Ford Transit was again a stand-out leader in the medium CV sector with its sales and market share increased for both July and the year to date. Ford Transit sales for July and for the year to date were 3,905 and 24,987, respectively, compared with registrations of 2,134 and 20,470 for the same periods in 2009.

Ford Transit medium CV market shares were up 6.9 percentage points to 25.4 per cent for July and up 0.7 percentage points to 23.7 per cent for the year to date, compared with the same periods in 2009.

TOP OF THE CHART: The Ford Fiesta was the best-selling car in the UK in the first half of 2010, according to the SMMT.

Car index gets revamp

THE UK's most comprehensive guide for used car reliability, www.ReliabilityIndex.co.uk, has been relaunched with a raft of improvements.

Designed to provide the nation's motorists with an unparalleled resource of information for cars aged three to 10 years old, ReliabilityIndex.co.uk is free to use.

The backbone of the website is provided by historical data over the last 10 years from automotive warranty company, Warranty Direct, which has covered hundreds of thousands of cars in the last decade. Additional features include the ability to compare vehicles and select vehicle sectors like MPV and convertibles.

LIFETIME WARRANTY: For the Insignia as Vauxhall introduces the first lifetime warranty on its entire new car range that any manufacturer has made.

IN an unprecedented industry move, Vauxhall is introducing a lifetime warranty on all its new cars with immediate effect, providing the potential of comprehensive coverage throughout each vehicle's life.

Vauxhall Lifetime Warranty will apply to the first owner of any Vauxhall car registered from the start of this month. Warranty coverage continues throughout the life of the car until it reaches 100,000 miles.

"With the Vauxhall Lifetime Warranty, we are making a strong statement of confidence in the quality of our products and a clear intent to provide the very best customer service in the UK," said Duncan Aldred, managing director of Vauxhall Motors.

The comprehensive new OEM warranty cover includes powertrain, steering system, brake system and electrical equipment throughout the life of the vehicle. To maintain the Lifetime Warranty, owners simply need to visit a Vauxhall retailer annually for a free vehicle inspection. Vauxhall is also set to announce details of a further programme enabling second owners to purchase the Lifetime Warranty.

Vauxhall Lifetime Warranty is the latest innovation from the UK's oldest surviving car maker, which this year celebrates its 107th anniversary. Since 2006, the company has launched a raft of world-class products, including the latest Corsa, Agila, Meriva and Astra models, as well as the European Car of the Year-winning Insignia.

Vauxhall brings in lifetime warranty which will cover all new vehicles

Sam's blitz brings Haverhill joy

HAVERHILL ended their 38-year Adams Harrison Midweek League title drought in style, clinching the Adams Harrison Midweek League, Division One crown in a run-laden crunch match against Weston Colville.

Relegation-haunted Weston set an imposing 218 after Adam Curtis (86), Adrian Westley (57) and Evan Gard (53 not out) launched into the Haverhill attack.

But if there were any nerves as the leaders chased their first title since 1972, they were quickly dispelled as Sam Powell launched a brutal assault. He ripped into the Weston bowling, smashing a league record 157 not out, and with Adam Dellar for once playing a supporting role with an unbeaten 45, Haverhill stormed home in only 16.2 overs.

And, after hitting the highest losing

Adam Curtis: His 83 for Weston Colville proved all in vain as they beaten by Haverhill.

score in league history, Weston's mood was not improved when they discovered relegation-rivals Brockley had definitely secured their Division One future by surprisingly beating Saffron Walden, who racked up 141 for 6 on the back of Joe Barrs' 63 and Rob Smith's 32. Isaac Reed took 3 for 27.

However, Freddie Klokker hammered an unbeaten 62 and Joe Reed hit 28 as Brockley registered 144 for 4, leaving Weston waiting to see if the league is restructured next season because of any new entrants.

■ Hundo gained revenge for last year's defeat when they beat Manor in the League Cup final.

Batting first, they set off like a train with Ed Harper (49) and Akram Khan (69) plundering the bowling. However, their departure slowed the run-rate and an attack dominated by Steve Lanceman (5 for 26) restricted Hundo to 198, despite a rapid 29 from Naveed Mohammad.

Manor, though, were never up with the chase and subsided to 88.

Dellar's team triumph again

HAVERHILL maintained their dominance in Division Two of the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship with an impressive seven-wicket victory at Brockley on Saturday.

Adam Dellar's side dismissed the hosts for just 70 on a damp wicket before easing to 72 for 3 in reply.

Haverhill II won a thriller when they entertained their Braintree counterparts in a Division Six match at Manor Road on Saturday.

A mixture of holidays, injuries and first team call-ups meant that Haverhill fielded a younger side with three under-15s in the team.

Skipper Martyn Wilkins won the toss and decided to bowl first on a firm wicket.

The decision reaped dividends as the visitors were reduced to 63 for 3 after 30 overs.

Joey Kettle took two wickets and Wilkins got the other on the way to remarkable figures of 1 for 17 off 15 overs.

The Braintree batsmen took risks in the last 15 overs to finish on 165 for 8 with Nural Hoque (2 for 49) and Dan Webb (3 for 29) getting among the wickets.

A depleted Haverhill batting line-up set about the reply with Sam Hartshorn (44) and Phil Jones (17) putting on 55 in only five overs.

Hartshorn hit 16 off the first over and nine boundaries in total before being bowled just when he seemed to be taking the game away from the visitors.

Liam Savage batted steadily when wickets tumbled as Haverhill tumbled from 55 for 1 to 97 for 6.

Young Ryan Fowler batted well for 15 in partnership with skipper Wilkins to take the score to 137 for 8.

Last pair Dan Webb and Nural Hoque were left to score 24 runs to take the home side to victory.

A mixture of pinched singles and some glorious strokes moved the score on to 164 for 9 with one over left.

It was left to Webb to hit the winning runs off the first ball to earn victory by one wicket.

■ Weston Colville continued their improved form in Division Two of the Tucker Gardner Cambs & Hunts Premier League with a 96-run victory over Castor & Ailsworth on Saturday.

Batting first, Colville posted 224 for 9, a total Castor never looked like matching. They were bundled out for 128.

■ Horseheath lost their Cricket Stick CCA Senior League, Division One match away at Histon by four wickets.

The visitors got off to a terrible start with both openers Martin Farrant and Alan Ketteridge sent packing without a run between them, Daniel Tattersall clinching both wickets as he finished with 3 for 26.

Viktor Dixon went to the claim 4 for 37 as Horseheath were dismissed for 138.

Histon were also in early trouble on 23 for 3 before James Motley (51) and Philip Vasey (32) teamed up for a fourth-wicket stand of 64 as they came through with 142 for 6.

Winner James hits a high note

James Higham won the D Quinney Trophy for juniors at Haverhill GC with a superb round of 92-27-65 – reducing his handicap by two.

Liam Merritt (79-13-66) was second and Chris Vince third with 72-4-68.

■ The Boyles brothers dominated Haverhill's Junior Captain's Day with Richard winning the under-18s' Abu Dhabi competition with a round of 79-11-68.

The top scores for 11 boys and nine girls in the country go on to compete in the finals at Abu Dhabi GC in November. Richard's younger brother Stephen won the medal with 85-20-65. Daniel Bentley was runner up with 96-28-68.

■ Lady captain Sally Price continued her recent form by clinching the August medal on countback with 96-27-69, reducing her handicap to 25.

In second place was Jackie Condon with 90-21-69, also on countback, from Sue Carr with 82-13-69 (lowest gross).

Condon and Carr had their handicaps reduced by one shot. In Saturday's medal, Sheila Price had a comprehensive five-shot win with 105-32-73, to reduce her handicap by two to 30.

Lyn Fish (102-24-78) was second on count back Condon (98-20-78).

■ Haverhill hosted the Suffolk Junior Championship.

The best performance by a home golfer came from Richard Boyles (72-79-151), who finished second in the under-15s' championship behind Robert Saller (Ufford Park) 74-75-149.

■ Haverhill Seniors lost away to Gosfield 1½ - 6½, but won their home match the following day against Braintree by 5½ - 2½.

■ On Sunday, the R Brown Cup was contested over 36 holes at Haverhill, with a field of 48 competing. Haverhill junior Lewis Whiting took the honours with a nett 68+63=131. As a result, he had his handicap reduced from 13 to 11.

In second place was last year's winner Jack Warwick with 64+69=133 and third was Craig Sisson with 68+66=134. Whiting's father, Dave, was fourth with 67+68=135.

Gibbs nips in to grab the winner

WEST Wrating emerged as 4-3 winners in their under-13s' pre-season friendly with old rivals Kedington (formerly Withersfield) Youth.

Wrating opened up a three goal lead through Ellis Wiffen (2) and Mo Horsley. Kedington mounted a spirited comeback with Jason scoring just before half time.

Finley Dray converted at the back post to make it 3-2 before Jamie Lingard sprinted through to fire home an equaliser. Wrating immediately snatched their winner with Liam Gibbs scoring from close range.

■ West Wrating U15 continued their pre-season run with a 10-0 victory over Cherry Hinton Lions. The Reds started well and it was 3-0 at half time with two goals from Tom Pinker and one from Scott Hayes. Man-of-the-Match and debutant Sam Clayton anchored the back four, allowing Wrating to push on after the break, scoring further goals from Pinker (2), Harry Sendall, Ryan Whitley, James Percy (2) and Hayes.

» Football: Big crowd sees Haverhill triumph in first league match at New Croft

Rovers kick off new era in style

A DRAMATIC winner from substitute Ryan Kent ensured Haverhill began life at their new home on Saturday with a performance that gave the 350 supporters at New Croft plenty to celebrate.

After the opening ceremony at the new ground, the team proceeded to do their best to entertain the crowd only to find the visitors equal to the task.

Jack Higgs had the first real chance for Haverhill in the fifth minute, but his effort was off target.

After 20 minutes, Louis Harper played in Marc Abbott, but his shot was blocked by the legs of the the Walsham goalkeeper.

Abbott had another shot saved on the half-hour mark as the half finished goalless.

Haverhill boss Peter Betts then decided to ring the changes and inject some new energy into the side. Kent and Joe Boreham came on with 20 minutes remaining.

The former wasted no time in making his presence felt as he cut the ball back to Abbott, who fired over from the edge of the area.

Haverhill piled on the pressure with Abbott again going close and Craig Cutts' shot-on-the-turn going straight at the keeper.

Betts' substitutions ultimately reaped the perfect dividend when, on 82 minutes, Kent unleashed a fierce strike from 25 yards that flew into the top corner, sparking jubilation in the stands.

Rovers had a chance to double their advantage in the dying minutes when substitute Harry Halls' good strike from the edge of the area was just too close to the keeper.

"It was a great day," said Betts. "Hopefully, the crowd enjoyed what they saw and will come back and support the team. It's a ground to be proud of and great for the community. Watching the celebrations, you could really see what it meant to the players and supporters."

He added: "It's great to get off to a winning start. The players have had a hard pre-season but they responded in a positive manner and got their just rewards."

Haverhill Rovers: L Cutts, S Holmes, G Strong, S Wardley, J Challis (J Boreham), S Kingham, M Abbott, M Hunt, C Cutts, L Harper (H Halls), J Higgs (R Kent).

Not used: M Clarke, P Hunt.

■ The second game at New Croft on Tuesday evening attracted more than 150 supporters, but Rovers were unable to give them another victory as they went down 2-0 to Stanway Rovers.

The visitors went in front in the 19th minute and after Cutts and Abbott had gone close to equalising in the first half, they grabbed their second less than a minute after the interval.

■ The New Croft will host its first FA Cup match on Saturday when Rovers take on Hadleigh United in an extra preliminary round tie, kick-off 3pm.
